Rabbi's Message -Marc Ekstrand

Friends,

Last month an article appeared on the front page of The Day. It subsequently appeared in the New London Times and Waterford Times. The article was written by our Vice President, Armi Rowe. She wrote about how Temple Emanu-El has embraced technology as a way to enhance our connection with our congregants and friends. We turned to technology in response to the conditions of the pandemic. If we couldn't gather at the Temple, we needed another way to stay connected. It was a team effort to move into the virtual world. In the first days of the pandemic Sherry and I had help from our Temple Emanu-El teens, Trevor Fornara (now studying at Binghamton University) and Ellanora Lerner (now studying at Clark University). Trevor and Ellanora helped us set up and stream our first service. Technologically, it was rudimentary. You could see and hear us, but we couldn't see or hear you. Our first steps set our direction but we knew we had to keep innovating. Then we entered the Zoom world which gave us two-way communication. Since then, a small AV Club has formed with Sean Bendick at the heart of it. As far as we have come, we still have a long way to go. My vision is that we continually chip away at the barriers between those who can gather in our physical space and those gathering in our virtual space.

A similarly progressive step was taken in our TE Religious School. When our in person learning went virtual, Armi Rowe and Jennifer Zettler brought Shalom Learning, an online Jewish education program, to our school. This added significant content and additional structure to the Religious School curriculum that Jennifer and Armi had already significantly revised and refined. Additionally, Sherry Barnes and I took our First Friday programs for families on-line and Jennifer and Armi added monthly Shabbat and holiday programs for our students. Armi and Jennifer turned over leadership of our Religious School to Rachel O'Brien. Before Armi and Jennifer were done, they helped Rachel transition our students and school back to in person learning.

The article in The Day was accompanied by pictures of our April Share Shabbat. They say a picture says a thousand words. The front page picture captured one of our students, Rebecca Tsai, standing on the bima. Rebecca opened our hybrid Share Shabbat service with Sherry in joyous song. Another picture showed our young learners holding up a challah that I baked for our first oneg in over two years. A third picture captured Sean Bendick and Ryan O'Bern (our AV assistant from Grasso Technical High School) managing the camera and Zoom space. In the background of that picture one can see our on line community on a big screen in our sanctuary. What these pictures say is that we have a healthy, diverse, progressive spiritual community that is moving into the future with optimism and confidence.

What is a little harder to discern from the pictures is how seamlessly our religious school students and families join in our Kabbalat Shabbat celebrations. Share Shabbat isn't a 'kids service' or simplified and abridged Shabbat observance. Rather, our young community of learners, their families, and teachers joyously uplift our Shabbat observance. Share Shabbat engages our entire Temple Emanu-El community.

If you haven't joined in yet, there are two more special opportunities before summer. May 6th will be our last Share Shabbat of the school year. June 4th will be a special Share Shavuot program highlighting our educators, including honoring Jennifer Zettler and Armi Rowe for their dedication to our Religious School. Shavuot is a fitting time to honor our educators. Our rabbinic sages associated Shavuot with the reception of Torah at Sinai. That was a huge progressive step for the Israelites. Each generation since has taught its Torah to the next. Our teachers sustain this tradition that sustains the Jewish people.

Mark your calendars to Share Shabbat and Share Shavuot.

L'shalom,

Rabbi Marc

President's Message - Andy Parad

As I'm sure you'll hear at least a few times in this Bulletin, the April Homecoming event was a huge success. Not only did were we able to come together as a community to see each other, but we were able to be productive at the same time. From my vantage point in the thorn bushes I was able to see about 4-6 people hurriedly raking leaves from near the building. I could hear a chainsaw running (or at least Mike revving it up). I could see the smoke coming off the grill. I missed all the socializing and things being done inside (and the work on the roof), but I hear there was quite a bit accomplished. There was a beautiful art exhibit I was able to see. BBYO was there. There was a book club meeting. Mel Brooks stopped by. Ok, maybe not the last one. But everything else was really all going on at the same time while we were all catching up with each other. It was quite a lot, and a good time had by all. I heard whispers that people think this should be not only an annual event, but a semiannual event. If you have an opinion on this or any other thoughts, please let us know. We are all ears.

And there is more going on in May and into June. I won't list it all, as it will be in the Bulletin. I will make note that there will be a pickleball "event" of some sort that is still in the works for the exact details. At the very least, I'll be setting up a couple nets in the parking lot so people can give it a shot. For those of you who haven't heard of pickleball yet... it's the fastest growing sport in America and you'll be hearing of it soon. Played with a paddle and a ball like a wiffle ball, it's a cross between tennis, badminton, and ping pong. It doesn't take much skill to start, so come on out and hit a few balls with us. Or at least (hopefully) enjoy the nice weather.

Andy

Notes from Sherry Barnes

April held some beautiful "getting together" opportunities! We had Share Shabbat, Temple Emanu-El's Homecoming event, and our first in-person Passover Seder in 2 years! I really was so pleased with the turn out for these 3 occasions. At Share Shabbat, we not only enjoyed sharing Shabbat together, but we also had our first oneg, along with Rabbi Marc's homemade challah! Our Homecoming event was like a family reunion. It was great! I loved watching people interacting with each other, enjoying each other's company, and sitting with their friends at the BBQ that followed. I also enjoyed seeing the beautiful Torah covers that Pat Sher made and listening to her tell us about her beautiful artwork. Then there was the Passover Seder at Langley's. Around 100 people joined Rabbi Marc and me, to celebrate this holiday of freedom. How nice it was to be surrounded by friends and family. You can check out the pictures on our Facebook page. Thank you to everyone who helped make these 3 events possible.

Switching topics...

I remember watching the Disney animated movie Coco a while back. Its message was to remember those we love and not let their memories fade, so that they will always be around us. It was very touching. It reminded me of the poem In Mishkan T'filah, the Weekday and Festivals book, called, We Remember Them. The last line of the poem says, "So long as we live, they too shall live, for they are now a part of us as we remember them." Many cultures and religions also encourage remembering those we have loved and lost. When we say the name of someone who has passed, we say zichrona livracha for a female and zichrono livracha for a male, which means, of blessed memory. We also say May their memory be for a blessing. Though we miss them, the beauty of our memories with them while they lived is a blessing. With the coming of Mother's Day, I know there are many of us who have lost our mothers. I will be remembering my Mom and her wonderful laugh and sense of humor. Also May 14, was the day Terri Goldsmith was born. I will be remembering the "big sister" way she watched over me. She also had a contagious laugh and was so caring. By remembering, we keep them close to us and keep their memory alive. May the memories of those that you will be remembering throughout the year, always be for a blessing. CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

A quick plug:

If you are interested in joining the choir, please send me an email. I'm always looking to fill the choir with lots of voices. I'm also looking for those interested in singing for the High Holy Days. Don't be shy. Send me an email.

Sisterhood -- Gail Weber & Barbara Senges, Co-Presidents

Hi Ladies,

As you read our article each month, you can see how busy our Sisterhood has been with fun events for ourselves and community events (Friendly Visitor Program) for our greater community.

We are coming down the homestretch of this year with three scheduled programs in May.

Please mark your calendars and either participate or attend our Sisterhood Shabbat Service on Friday, May 13. Normally our service coincides with Mother's Day weekend, but there was a conflict with our special first Friday services, Share Shabbat. So, we are having our service the following weekend. Eileen Shapiro spends a tremendous amount of time compiling meaningful readings and prayers and this service is always well-attended and touching. If you would like to participate, please email Eileen at esfinallyhasemail@comcast.net

There is a special Sisterhood Regional Book Club, on Zoom only, on Wed, May 18 at 7:00pm. Book clubs from around the area have been invited and are excited to hear the author Victoria Riskin speak about her book (Fay Wray and Robert Riskin: A Hollywood Memoir). For those of you who are not familiar with this Hollywood couple, Fay Wray was in the movie King Kong in 1933. Whether you read the book or not, this promises to be a fascinating evening with the author being interviewed by Cecile Feldman and Sheila Horvitz. Contact Barbara Senges for the Zoom link at Professeur38@me.com

And finally, to wrap up our year, Kim Fischburg is graciously opening her home for our End-of-the-Year Sisterhood Dinner on May 19. What a wonderful way to catch up with your Sisterhood friends in person, enjoy a delicious dinner and hear from our WRJ Regional Vice -President. Save the date and watch for a flyer with more details!

Our walking group continues to grow. We meet at Hole in the Wall parking lot in Niantic on Wednesday and Thursday mornings at 10:00am. This is the perfect time of year for these walks – get your steps in and chat with the other ladies.

Looking back, the year has had its challenges, but the Sisterhood board worked hard and tried to stay creative while looking out for everyone's well-being. It has been fun working together and seeing all of you, on Zoom or in person.

See you at our May events!

TEMPLE EMANU-EL GIFT SHOP

Please check out the Gift Shop website to see our selection of items. There is a link right on the Temple Homepage. Or, email me at judai-

cashop@tewaterford.org to set up a time to meet in the Gift Shop. Please don't hesitate to contact me for an appointment.

On June 30, my tenure in the gift shop is coming to an end. During this time, I have been enriched by the contacts and friendships I have made. I have met so many members of the Jewish community that I may have never met before. It really is very little work and what you get is so much more than what you put in. Please consider helping to run the gift shop.

Temple Emanu-El Religious School (TERS) - Rachel O'Brien

I hope everyone had a wonderful Pesach celebration with family and friends, and that you enjoyed some rest and relaxation during Spring Break. Before taking this welldeserved down time, April was an exciting month for wrap up the 8th grades study of the Holocaust. I can't believe that religious school is moving to the homestretch. Please note, our last mid-week Hebrew instruction is on May 4 and our last Sunday our students. On April 3 we had a special First Friday Share Shabbat where we welcomed back onegs to family service. Thank you to all the TERS families who donated some delicious treats to wrap up the service with.

On April 10 TERS held their 3rd Sunday Family Funday. We had a great turnout at The Coast Guard Academy Bowling Center. A huge THANK YOU to Elyse Hicks for helping make this happen. Over 25 students joined in on an afternoon of bowling and ice cream Sundae's. These whole school outings have been very successful bringing together both students and the community.

On April 20 TERS also participated in a special Passover program. The morning was filled with educational hands-on activities. Students made their own Seder plates, learned about the Israelites exodus from Egypt (followed by a scavenger hunt for the 10 plagues) and practiced the Four Questions. Thank you to all our teachers for their help in making learning about Passover fun and engaging.

Our Passover program wrapped up with a small Seder and an amazing music program featuring Moses himself! A special thanks to Sherry Barnes for organizing, leading, and providing for this year's TERS Seder. Each student had their own Seder plate, and I was amazed at how many students tried Morar (bitter herb) or wanted seconds of the Charoset (a mixture of apples, grape juice, and walnut). I would also like to thank Sam Winograd who played the part of Moses during our music program. To see the look of surprise on the students' faces was priceless.

Our 8th grade class had a very special treat of their own during our Passover programing. Thanks to Rabbi Ekstrand we had a very special speaker came to TERS.A 92-year-old resident of Mystic agreed to visit TERS and speak about her experience in Poland during the Nazi occupation. She was so warm, friendly, and open about her experiences during the war. It really made an impression on our teens, and it was a great way to session is May 22. Our last day of religious school will conclude with a whole school celebration - details to come. Meanwhile, please mark your calendars, as our next First Friday Share Shabbat will be on May 6. Please join us in person or virtually. If you have not yet signed up for a "piece" of the service, please contact me or Rabbi Marc.

Please note that over the next couple of weeks our 8th graders will be sponsoring a Mitzvah Project facilitated by Barbara Senges and Karen Rosenberg. Kitah Chet will be collecting items to help support Camp Hope, a summer camp sponsored by Safe Futures (see flyer for items needed). We are hoping that all our students can donate at least one item from the list. There will be a box in the atrium of TERS for donated items. Please confirm with Roberta Reisner-Winograd if you will be dropping off outside of school hours as she is not always in the office. The temple number is (860) 443-3005.

Very important... as the school year ends, I need to plan for the next school year. So, teachers, faculty assistants, and school families, please be on the lookout for a survey that will ask you to confirm whether you will be returning to religious school next year. I appreciate your prompt response so I can plan accordingly.

We have had such a productive school year, one filled with new experiences, opportunities to learn and to make new connections, and of course, dealing with a few speed bumps along the way. We couldn't have done it without the consistent support of Rabbi Ekstrand, Sherry Barnes, and all our dedicated teachers, faculty assistants.

Wishing you all a great summer!

Rachel O'Brien

HELP THE EIGHTH GRADE WITH A VERY IMPORTANT MITZVAH PROJECT

Beginning Sunday, May 1st and every Sunday until the close of Religious School on Sunday, May 22nd, the eighth grade class will be collecting the supplies needed for campers attending Camp Hope- a week-long camping experience for children between the ages of 7 and 11 who have been impacted by trauma. Camp Hope America is just one of the projects of Safe Futures in New London.

Our goal and our "HOPE" is that every student in the Religious School will donate at least one item from the list below. The 8th graders will collect donations of these items on May 1, May 8, May 15 and May 22.

- Pillows (standard size)
- Twin sheet sets in solid colors
- Children's 3-in-1 shampoo, conditioner, and body wash
- Sunscreen spray
- Bug repellent spray
- Hair brushes
- Combs
- Children's beach towels
- Travel-sized first aid kits
- Backpacks (preferably in solid colors)
- · Children's flip flops/shower shoes in various sizes
- Swimsuits and swim trunks for girls and boys ages 7 to 11.

Bat Mitzvah of Katelyn Haynes May 15

Katelyn Michael Haynes will be called to the Torah on Saturday, May 28, 2022. She will be assisting Rabbi Marc Ekstrand and Cantorial Soloist Sherry Barnes in leading the Shabbat Service.

Katelyn is the daughter of Michael and Rebecca Haynes of Niantic. She is a seventh grade high honors student at East Lyme Middle School. Katelyn has been a competitive gymnast for the past 6 years and enjoys cheerleading, basketball and drawing.

As a member of this year's B'nai Mitzvah class at Temple Emanu-El, Katie and her class will be working together to benefit the Safe Futures program in New London.

In addition to her parents, Katie lives with her brother Jack who is finishing up his freshman year at UMASS in Amherst and her brother Spencer who is a junior at East Lyme High School. They all ask you to join them in wishing Katie a Mazel Tov on her special day.

There are no words to express the heartfelt feelings I have in thanking the Temple community who remembered my dear husband in so many ways.

To know that your thoughtfulness also enriched the various funds from which we all benefit was very gratifying.

Harold would have been so appreciative as the Wolfe family is.

Starry Night Seeking Auction Donations

Starry Night

Celebration

Join us as

Temple Emanu-El

60 + 1 + 1

After a three-year pandemic hiatus, Starry Night, Temple Emanuel's biggest fundraiser, returns Saturday, June 11, 2022 at 6 pm at the Port "N Starboard at Ocean Beach Park in New London. A significant component of the fundraising event will be an online silent auction. The committee is asking TE members to consider donating items or services of value such as the use of vacation homes and time shares, special dining experiences, golf outings, sports and entertainment tickets, pro lessons, and high end goods. Popular services in past auctions include dinner for 6, piano lessons, housekeeping service, oil delivery, handyman

For service donations — not a physical item — please send a photo and/or a description with name of donor and value to Roberta at office@tewaterford.org. Small items such as jewelry, technology, or printed gift certificates can be dropped off at the office or picked up by request. Those who have large items to donate are asked to please send a photo, description with name of donor and value and someone will pick up the donation close to the event date. Only new items will be accepted.

Celebrating the 60th, 61st and 62nd anniversaries, the evening will feature a 60s theme and have a slightly different format than the dinner dances in the past. In addition to the auction, the night will include dancing to the sounds of the 1960s and guests will be treated to heavy hors d'oeuvres, dessert, and cocktails on the spacious outdoor deck overlooking the Long Island Sound as well as in the main ballroom.

The committee is also looking for photos to include in a slide show showcasing members and events through the years, most especially those from the 1960s. If you have some photos to share either scan and email them to Amy Perry at perryamy1@gmail.com or drop them off at the office. Be sure that all photos are clearly marked with your name and phone number on the back of photos and the envelope.

For more information about donating and attending what is sure to be a totally groovy and important event go to https:// www.teastarrynightdinnerdance.com. To Purchase tickets go to https:// www.teastarrynightdinnerdance.com/payment-form. You can also find a Starry Night link on the TE website https://tewaterford.org/.

The Social Action Committee thanks all those who helped clean INSIDE and OUT of Temple Emanuel during the Homecoming - April 10. So many chores on the list were completed - BUT others remain. Keep looking for another date for working on those items left on the list!! Hope others will join. Everyone seemed to enjoy working together and helping our congregation, at the same time.

Remember we can whistle while we work. Also - look for dates for Habitat for Humanity Builds.

There is a need for rides to medical appointments, grocery stores, etc." Please call or email- Karen Bloustine-860/326-6377, Bloustinek@gmail.com.
